Sarah Boehm (née Sherman) is an Assistant Professor in the Interior Architecture Department at Florida International University. Sarah holds a Masters of Arts in Interior Design. She is a licensed Interior Designer in the state of Florida and holds an NCIDQ (National Council for Interior Design Qualification) certificate. Her research envisions the amalgamation of two very important research directions: socially responsible design and the built environment.